

Systems Biology aims at understanding the dynamic interactions between components of a living system, between living systems and their interaction with the environment.

Systems biology is an approach by which biological questions are addressed through integrating experiments in iterative cycles with computational modeling, simulation and theory.

Modeling is not the final goal, but is a tool to increase understanding of the system, to develop more directed experiments and finally allow predictions.